

Boudoir photography is all about attitude and little to do with your age, figure or clothing. Body language and facial expressions are the key to having sexy portraits. When you feel sexy, you convey it!

Your session can be in studio, in your home, or a private location of your choice. Sessions last between 1.5 and 3 hours and are customized to meet your wishes--it's your time to let loose and have fun.

All sessions are personalized to your wishes. Boudoir means different things to different people and can range from being fully clothed to semi-nude to nudes. My goal is to create a comfortable environment for you to express yourself the way you want.

If you're looking for intimate and tasteful photographs that capture your true beauty, call C. Raysor Photography to book your session now.
